THE OXFORD INN AND O.FOURNIER
HOST LATIN ADVENTURE WINE DINNER

O.Fournier Chilean Sauvignon Blanc makes its North American debut

Oxford, MD, April 4, 2008—During the April 24-27 St. Michael’s Food & Wine Festival, the Oxford Inn & Pope’s Tavern will host esteemed guest winemaker Jose Manuel Ortega O.Fournier for a special wine dinner. The multi-course dinner, billed a “Latin Adventure,” will be prepared by the Oxford Inn’s own chef Lisa MacDougal, pairing flavors of old-world Spain and the Latin fusion of South America with a broad range of O.Fournier’s award-winning wines. Adding to the festivities, O.Fournier has chosen this occasion for the North American debut of his Chilean Sauvignon Blanc.

“The St. Michaels Food and Wine festival is a fabulous, destination event, and we couldn’t be more excited to be a part of it,” says Dan Zimbelman, proprietor of the Oxford Inn. “The wine experts consistently give O.Fournier’s wines high praise, so to have his latest creation released here in Oxford Maryland is a real honor.”

The Oxford Inn will present this Latin Adventure wine dinner on Friday, April 25, beginning at 7:00pm. Chef MacDougal’s inspired menu will serve as a perfect compliment to the evening’s special selection of O.Fournier wines, including the show-stopping O.Fournier A Crux. A modern blend of Tempranillo, Malbec, Merlot and Syrah grapes, the A Crux received a “93” “Wine Spectator” rating and was chosen among its top 100 bottles in the world last year. The highly rated O.Fournier B Crux will also be served, along with additional O.Fournier selections.

A 19th Century bed & breakfast located in the historic and picturesque waterfront town of Oxford, on Maryland’s Eastern Shore, The Oxford Inn and its elegant bistro, Pope’s Tavern, offer a destination dining experience in the heart of the Chesapeake Bay. Guests attending this upcoming evening of fine dining with one of the world’s true wine personalities will be among the first pallets to savor O.Fournier’s new Chilean Sauvignon Blanc. They will also experience the charming Oxford Inn hospitality, which bids you to “tempt your taste, relax your soul.”
